Exeter.

Shall I call in th'Ambassadors my Liege?
King. Not yet my coufm, till we be resolu'd
Of some serious matters touching vs and France.

Bysh. God and his Angels guard your sacred throne,
And make you long become it.

King. Sure we thanke you : and good my Lord proceed
Why the Law Salique which they haue in France,
Or should or should not stop in vs our claime :
And God forbid my wife and learned Lord,
That you should fashion, frame, or wrest the same.
For God doth know how many now in health,
Shall drop their blood, in approbation
Of what your reuerence shall incite vs too.
Therefore take heede how you impawne our person,
How you awake the sleeping sword of warre :
We charge you in the name of God take heede.
After this coniuration, speake my Lord :
And we will iudge, note, and belecue in heart,
That what you speake, is washt as pure
As sin in baptisme.

Bysh.

Bish. Then heare me gracious Soueraigne, & you Peeres,
Which owe your liues, your faith, and seruices
To this imperiall Throne:

There is no bar to stay your highnesse claime to France,
But one; which they produce from Faramount:

No female shall succeed in Salique Land;

Which Salique Land, the French vniustly gloze
To be the Realme of France,

And Faramount the founder of this law and female barre,
Yet their owne writers faithfully affirme,

That the Land Salique lyes in Germany,

Betweene the floods of Sabeck and of Elme,

Where Charles the first hauing subdude the Saxons

There left behinde, and setled certaine French,

Who holding in disdaine the Germane women,

For some dishonest manners of their liues,

Establisht there this Law. To wit,

No female shall succeed in Salique Land:

Which Salique land (as I haue sayd before)

Is at this time in Germany, call'd Moscene.

Thus doth it well appeare, the Salique law

Was not deuised for the Realme of France:

Nor did the French possesse the Salique land,

Vntill foure hundred one and twenty yeares

After the function of King Faramount,

Godly supposd the founder of this Law.

Hugh Capet also that vsurpt the Crowne,

To fine his Title with some shew of truth,

When in pure truth it was corrupt and nought:

Conuey'd himselfe as heire to the Lady Inger,

Daughter to Charles the foresayd Duke of Lorain,

So that as cleere as is the summers Sun,

King Pipins Title, and Hugh Capets claime,

King Charles his satisfaction, all appeare

To hold in right and title of the female:

So do the Lords of France vntill this day,

Howbeit they would hold vp this Salique Law

To

To barre your highnesse claiming from the female,
 And rather choose to hide them in a net,
 Then amply to embrace their crooked causes,
 Vsurt from you and your progenitors.

K. May we with right and conscience make this claim

Bi. The sin vpon my head dread Soueraigne:

For in the booke of Numbers it is writ,
 When the sonne dyes, let the inheritance
 Descend vnto the daughter.

Noble Lord, stand for your owne,
 Vnwinde your bloody flagge,
 Go my dread Lord to your great Grandfires graue,
 From whom you claime:

And your great Vnckle Edward the blacke Prince,
 Who on the French ground playd a Tragedy,
 Making defeate on the full power of France,
 Whilst his most mighty father on a bill,
 Stood smiling to behold his Lyons whelp,
 Foraging the blood of French Nobility.
 O Noble English, that could entertaine
 With halfe their forces the full power of France.
 And let another halfe stand laughing by,
 All out of worke, and colde for action.

King. We must not onely arme vs gainst the French,
 But lay downe our proportion for the Scot,
 Who will make rode vpon vs with all aduantages.

Bi. The Marches gracious Soueraigne, shalbe sufficient
 To guard your England from the pilfering borderers.

King. We do not meane the courting sneakers onely,
 But feare the maine entendment of the Scot:
 For you shall read, neuer my great Grandfather
 Vnmaskt his power for France,
 But that the Scot on his vnsurnisht kingdome,
 Came pouring like the tide into a breach,
 That England being empty of defences,
 Hath shooke and trembled at the brute heereof.

Bish. She hath bin then more fear'd then hurt my Lord:

 When all her chivalry hath bene in France,
 And she a mourning widdow of her Nobles,
 She hath her selfe not onely well defended,
 160 But taken and impounded (as a stray) the King of Scottes,
 VVhom like a caytiffe she did leade to France,
 Filling your Chronicles as rich with praise,

Lord. There is a saying very old and true.

If you will France win,
 168 Then with Scotland first begin :
 For once the Eagle England being in pray
 To his vnfurnisht Nest the weazle Scot
 VVould sucke her Egges,
 Playing the Mousse in absence of the Cat,
 To spoyle and hauocke more then she can eat.

Exe. It followes then, the Cat must stay at home,
 Yet that is but a curst necessity,

172 Since we haue traps to catch the petty theeues :
 VVhilst that the armed hand doth fight abroad.

The aduised head controllles at home :

For government though high or low, being put in parts,
 Congrueth with a mutuall consent like musicke.

Bish. True, therefore doth heauen

Diuide the fate of man in diuers functions :
 VVhereto is added as an ayme or But. Obedience :

For so liue the hony bees, creatures that by awe
 Ordaine an act of order to a peopled Kingdome.

They haue a King, and Officers of sort ;

Where some like Magistrates correct at home :

Others, like Merchants venture Trade abroad :

Others, like soldiours armed in their stings,

Make boot vpon the sommers Veluet bud :

VVhich pillage they with merry march bring home

To the Tent-royall of their Emperor ;

Who busied in his maiesty, behold

The finging Mafons building roofes of Gold,
 The ciuill Citizens lading vp the hony,
 The sad-ey'd Iuftice with his furly humme,
 Deliuering vp to executors pale, the lazic caning drone,
 This I inferre, that twenty actions once a foote,
 May all end in one moment.

As many arrowes lofed feuerall wayes, fly to one marke :
 As many feuerall wayes meete in one Towne :
 As many fresh ftreames run in one felfe-sea :
 As many lines clofe in the diall center :

So may a thoufand actions once a foote,
 End in one moment, and be all well born without defect.

Therefore my Liege to France,
 Diuide your happy England into foure,
 Of which take you one quarter into France,
 And you withall, fhall make all Gallia fhake.

If we with thrice that power left at home,
 Cannot defend our owne doore from the dogge.
 Let vs be beate, and from henceforth lofe
 The name of policy and hardineffe.

Kin. Call in the meffenger fent from the Dolphin,
 And by your ayde, the noble finnewes of our Land,
France being ours, weel bring it to our awe,
 Or breake it all in peeces :

Either our Chronicles fhall with full mouth fpeake
 Freely of our acts, or elfe like tonguelefse mutes,
 Not worfhipt with a paper Epiraph:

Enter the Ambaffadors from France.

Now are we well prepar'd to know the Dolphins pleasure
 For we heare your comming is from him.

Ambaf. Pleafeth your Maiefty to giue vs leaue
 Freely to render what we haue in charge,
 Or fhall I fparingly fhew a farre off,
 The Dolphins pleasure, and our Embaffage ?

King. We are no tyrant, but a Chriftian King,
 To whom our fpirit is as fubiect,
 As are our wretches fettered in our prifons.

Therefore freely, and with vncurbed boldnesse
Tell vs the Dolphins miude.

Ambas. Then this in fine the Dolphin saith,
VVhereas you claime certaine Townes in France,
From your predecessor King Edward the third,
This he returnes :

He saith, there's nought in France,
That can be with a nimble Galliard wonne.
You cannot reuail into Dukedomes there :
Therefore he sendeth meeter for your studie
This tun of treasure : and in lieu of this,
Desires to let the Dukedomes that you craue
Heare no more from you. This the Dolphin saith.

King. VVhat treasure Vnekle?

Exc. Tennis balles my Liege.

King. Wee are glad the Dolphin is so pleasant with vs,
Your message, and his present we accept.

When we haue matcht our Rackets to these balles,
We wil by Gods grace play him such a set,
Shal strike his fathers Crowne into the hazard.
Tell him he hath made a match with such a wrangler,
That all the courts of France shalbe disturbd with chafes.
And we vnderstand him well, how he comes ore vs
With our wilder daies,

Not measuring what vse we made of them.
We neuer valed this poore seate of England,
And therefore gaue our selues to barbarous License,
As tis common scene,

That men are merriest when they are from home.

But tell the Dolphin we will keepe our state,
Be like a King, mighty, and command,
When we do rowle vs in the Throne of France.

For this we haue layd by our Maiesty,
And plodded like a man for working dayes.

But we will rise therewith so full of glory,

That we will dazle all the eyes of France,

I strike the Dolphin blinde to looke on vs.

And

I.ii.

And tell him this,
 His mocke hath turn'd his balles to gun-stones,
 And his soule shall sit fore charged, for the wastfull
 Vengeance that shall flye from them,
 For this his mocke,
 Shall mocke many a wife out of their deare husbands,
 Mocke mothers from their sonnes, mocke Castles down.
 I, some are yet vngotten and vnborne,
 That shall haue cause to curse the Dolphins scorne.
 But this lies all within the will of God,
 To whom we do appeale: and in whose name,
 Tell you the Dolphin we are comming on,
 To venge vs as we may, and to put forth our hand
 In a right cause: so get you hence, and tell your Prince,
 His iest will sauour but of shallow wit,
 When thousands weepe more then did laugh at it.
 Conuey them with safe conduct; see them hence.

Exe. This was a merry message.

King. We hope to make the tender blush at it:
 Therefore let our collection for the wars be soon prouided
 For God before, weel check the Dolphin at his fathers
 Doore: therefore let enery man now taske his thought,
 That this faire action may on foote be brought.

Exeunt omnes.

32 Question your Grace the late Embassador,
 With what regard he heard his Embassage,
 35 How well supplied with aged Counsellors,
 And how his resolution answer'd him,
 You then would say, that Harry was nor wilde.

48 King. Well, thinke we Harry strong,
 And strongly arme vs to preuent the foe.

65 Con. My Lord, heere is an Ambassador
 From the King of England.

68 King. Bid him come in,
 You see this chafe is hotly followed, Lords.

72 Dol. My gracious father, cut vp this English short,
 Selfe-loue my Liege is not so vile a thing
 As selfe-neglecting.

Enter Exeter.

76 King. From our brother of England?

Exe. From him, and thus he greets your Maiefty;
 He wils you in the name of God Almighty,
 That you deuest your selfe, and lay apart
 That borrowed title, which by gift of heauen,
 80 Of law, of nature, and of Nations, longs
 To him and to his heires, namely the Crowne
 And all wide stretched titles that belongs
 84 Vnto the crowne of France, that you may know
 Tis no sinister, nor no awkward claime,
 Pickt from the wormeholes of old vanisht daies
 Nor from the dust of old obliuion rackt,
 88 He sends you these most memorable lines,
 In euery branch truely demonstrated:
 Willing you ouerlooke this pedigree,
 And when you finde him euently deriued
 92 From his most famed and famous Ancestors,
Edward the third; he bids you then resigne
 Your Crowne and Kingdome, indirectly held
 From him, the native and true Challenger.

King. If not, what followes?

Ex. Bloody cōstraint, for if you hide the crown
Euen in your hearts, there will he rake for it :
Therefore in fierce tempest is he comming
In chunder, and in earthquake, like a Tone,
That if requiring faile, he will compell it :
And on your heads turnes he the widows teares
The orphants cries, the dead mens bones,
The pining maidens grones,
For husbands, fathers, and distressed louers,
Which shall be swallowed in this controuersie.
This is his claime, his threatning, & my message,
Vnlesse the Dolphin be in presence heere,
To whom expressely we bring greeting too.

Dol. For the Dolphin? I stand here for him,
What to heare from England.

Exe. Scorn & defiance, slight regard, contempt,
And any thing that may not mis-become
The mighty sencer, doth he prize you at :
Thus saith my King. Vnles your fathers highnes
Sweeten the bitter mocke you sent his Maicesty,
Hee'l call you to so loud an answer for it,
That Cates and wombly Vaults of France
Shall chide your trespassse, & returne your mock,
In second accent of his Ordenance.

Dol. Say that my father render faire reply,
It is against my will :
For I desire nothing so much,
As oddes with England.

And for that cause, according to his youth,
I did present him with those Paris balles.

Exe. Hee'l make your Paris Louer shake for it,
Were it the Mistresse Court of mighty Europe.
And be assured, you'l finde a difference,
As we his subiects haue in wonder found,
Betweene his yonger daies, and these he musters now;

The Chronicle History

He is maintaine the Bridge very gallantly :

There is an Ensigne there,

I do not know how you call him,

And inconstant, and variation, and mutabilities :
And her fate is fixed at a sphericall stone,
Which rolles, and rolles, and rolles ;
Surely the Poet is make an excellent description of For-

Are perfect in great Commanders names.

 But when time shall serue, I shall tell him a little

Flew. I and it shall please your Maiesty,

King. What men haue you lost Flewellen?

Flew. And it shall please your Maiesty,
 The partition of the aduersary hath beene great,
 Very reasonably great, but for our owne parts,
 I thinke we haue lost neuer a man, vnlesse it be one
 For robbing of a Church, one Bardolfe, if your Maiesty
 Know the man, his face is full of wheelks, and knubs,
 And pumple, and his breath blowes at his nose
 Like a coale, sometimes red, sometimes plew ;
 But God be praised, now his nose is executed,
 And his fire out.

King. We would haue all offenders so cut off,
 And here we giue expresse commandement,
 That there be nothing taken from the villages
 But paid for ; none of the French abused,
 Or vpbraided with disdainfull language :
 For when cruelty and lenity play for a Kingdome,
 The gentlest gamester is the sooner winner.

 And he by any meanes miscarry,
 You may say the businesse of the Master
 Was the author of his seruants misfortune.
 Or if a sonne be imployd by his father,
 And he fall into any leud action, you may say the father
 Was the author of his sonnes damnation.

But the master is not to answer for his seruant,
 The father for his sonne, nor the king for his subiects;
 For they purpose not their deaths,
 When they craue their seruices;
 Some there are that haue the gift
 Of premeditated murder on them:
 Others the broken scale of Forgery, in beguiling maidens,
 Now if these out-strip the law,
 Yet they cannot escape Gods punishment.
 War is Gods Beadle. War is Gods vengeance:
 Euery mans seruice is the Kings;
 But euery mans soule is his owne,
 Therefore I would haue euery souldier examine himselfe,
 And wash every moth out of his conscience,
 That in so doing, he may be the readier for death,
 Or not dying, why the time was well spent.
 Wherein such preparation was made.

3. Soul. I saith he saies true.
 Euery mans fault is on his owne head,

of Henry the first.

IV. I.

I would nothau the king answer for me,
Yet I intend to fight lustily for him.

King. Well, I heard the king wold not be ransomd.

2. Soul. I he said so, to make vs fight;

But when our throats be cut, he may be ransomd,
And we neuer the wiser.

King. If I liue to see that, ile neuer trust his word againe.

2. Soul. Masse you'l pay him then,
Tis a great displeasure that an elder
Gun can do against a Cannon,
Or a subiect against a Monarch.

You'l nere take his word againe, you are a nassie, goe.

King. Your reproofe is somewhat too bitter;
Were it not at this time I could be angry.

2. Soul. Why let it be a quarrell if thou wilt.

King. How shall I know thee?

2. Soul. Here's my gloue, which if euer I see in thy hat,
Ile challenge thee, and strike thee.

King. Here is likewise another of mine,
And assure thee ile weare it.

2. Soul. Thou dar'st as well be hangd.

3. Soul. Be friends you fooles,
We haue French quarrels enow in hand,
We haue no need of English broyles.

King. Tis no treason to cut French Crownes,
For to morrow the King himselfe will be a clipper.

Exit the souldiers.

Enter to the King, Gloucester, Epingham, and Attendants.

King. O God of battels Steele my souldiers harts,
Take from them now the sence of reckoning,
That the apposed multitudes which stand before them
May not appale their courage.

O not too day, not too day O God,

To boast heereof, or take the praise from God,
Which is his due.

Flew. Is it lawfull, and it please your Maieesty,
To tell how many is kild?

Kin. Yes Flewellen,
But with this acknowledgement,
That God fought for vs.

Flew. Yes in my conscience, he did vs great good.

Kin. Let there be sung Nououes and Te Deum,
The dead with charity enter'd in clay:
Weel then to Calice, and to England then,
Where nere from France, arriu'd more happier men.
Exit omnes.

Sc.xix.Enter Gower and Flewellen.

Gower. But why do you weare your Leeke to day?
Saint Dauies is past?

Flew. There is occasion Captaine Gower,
Looke you why, and wherefore:
The other day looke you, Pistoles
Which you know is a man of no merites
In the worell, is come where I was the other day,
And brings bread and salt, and biddes mee
Eate my Leeke: twas in a place, looke you,
Where I could mooue no dissentions,
But if I can see him, I shall tell him
A little of my desires.

Gow. Heere he comes swelling like a Turkey-cocke:

Enter

The Chronicle History

Enter Pistoll.

Flewellen. Tis no matter for his swelling, and his turki-cookes.

God plesse you Ancient Pistoll, you scall,
Beggerly, lowfy knaue, God plesse you.

Pist. Ha, art thou Bedlem?

Dost thou thurst base Troyan,
To haue me folde yp Parcas fatall web?
Hence, I am qualmish at the smell of Leeke.

Flew. Ancient Pistoll,

I would desire you because it doth not agree
With your stomackes, and your appetites,
And your digestions, to eate this Leeke.

Pist. Not for Cadwallader and all his Goats.

Flew. There is one Goate for you, ancient Pistol.

He strikes him.

Pist. Base Troyan, thou shalt dye.

Flewellen. I, I know I shall dye:

But in the meane time, I would desire you
To liue and eate this Leeke.

Gower. Enough Captaine,
You haue astonisht him, it is enough.

Flewel. Astonisht him,
By Iesu, Ile beate his head foure dayes
And foure nights too, but Ile make him
Eate some part of my Leeke.

Pist. Well must I bite?

Flew. I out of question, or doubt, or ambiguities,
You must bite.

He makes Ancient Pistoll bite of the Leeke.

Pistol. Good, good.

Flewel.

Sc. xix.of Henry the first.

Flewellen. I Leekes are good, ancient Pistol.
 Looke you now, there is a shilling for you
 To heale your bloody coxcombe.

Pist. Me a shilling.

Flew. If you will not take it,
 I haue another Lecke for you.

Pist. I take thy shilling in earnest of reckoning.

Flew. If I owe you any thing,

I will pay you in Cudgelles :

You shall be a Wood-monger,

And buy Cudgels. And so God be with you

Ancient Pistol, God plesse you,

And heale your broken pate.

Ancient Pistol, if you see Leekes another time,
 Mocke at them, that is all: God bwy you.

Exit Flewellen,

Pist. All hell shall stirre for this.

Doth Fortune play the huswife with me now?

Is honour cudgeld from my warlike loynes?

Well France farewell, newes haue I certainly

That Doll is sicke. One malady of France

The warres affoordeth nought, home will I trug,

Baud will I turne, and vse the slight of hand :

To England will I steale,

And there Ile steale :

And patches will I get vnto these scarres,

And sweare I gat them in the Gallia warres.

Exit Pistol

Sc. xx.

Enter at one doore, the King of England and his Lords.

*And at the other doore, the King of France, Queene
 Katherine, the Duke of Barbon, and others.*

The Chronicle History

Harry. Peace to this meeting,
Wherefore we are met,
And to our brother France, faire time of day.
Faire health vnto our louely cousin Katherine,
And as a branch, and member of this Rocke,
We do salute you, Duke of Burgundy.

Fran. Brother of England,
Right ioyous are we to behold your face,
So are we Princes English every one.

Duke. With pardon vnto your mightinesse,
Let it not displease you, if I demaund
What rub or barre hath thus farre hindred you
To keepe you from the gentle speech of peace?

Har. If Duke of Burgundy you would haue peace,
You must buy that peace,
According as we haue drawne our Articles.

Fran. We haue but with a curfory eye
Ore-view'd them; pleaseth your Grace,
To let some of your Counsell fit with vs,
We shall returne our peremptory answer.

Har. Go Lords, and sit with them,
And bring vs answer backe.
yet leaue our cousin Katherine heere behind.

Fran. Withall our hearts.

Exit French King and the Lords.

Manet, king Henry, Katherine, and the Gentlewoman.

Har. Now Kate,
You haue a blunt wooer heere left with you.
If I could winne thee at Leape-frog,
Or with vauring with my armour on my backe
Into my saddle,
Without bragge be it spoken,
Ide make compare with any.

But

32 But leauing that Kate,
 If thou takest me now,
 Thou shalt haue me at the worst,
 And in wearing thou shalt haue me better and better,
 36 Thou shalt haue a face that is not worth sun-burning.
 But doest thou thinke, that thou and I,
 Betweene Saint Denis and Saint George,
 Shall get a boy, that shall go to Constantinople,
 40 And take the great Turke by the beard?
 Ha, Kate.

Kate. Is it possible dat me fall
 Loue de enemy de France.

44 Harry. No Kate,
 It is vnpossible you should loue the enemy of France :
 For Kate I loue France so well,
 That Ile not leaue a village,
 48 Ile haue it all mine. Then Kate,
 When France is mine,
 And I am yours :
 Then France is yours,
 52 And you are mine.

Kate. I cannot tell what is dat.

Harry. No Kate,
 Why Ile tell you in French,
 56 Which will hang vpon my tongue, like a bride
 On her new married husband.
 Let me see, Saint Dennis be my speede,
 60 Quan France & moi,

Kate. Dat is, when France is yours.

Harry. Et vous ettes anioy.

Kate. And I am to you.

Harry. Douck France ettes a vous.

Kate. Den France fall be mine.

Harry. Et ie suyues a vous.

Kate. And you will be to me.

Har. Wilt belceue me Kate? Tis easier for me

The Chronicle History

To conquer the kingdome,
Then to speake so much more French.

Kate. A your Maiesty
Has false France enough, to deceiue
De best Lady in France.

Harry. No faith Kate not I.
But Kate prethee tell me in plaine tearmes,
Dost thou loue me?

Kate. I cannot tell.

Harry. No: Can of any your Neighbours tel,
He aske them.

Come Kate, I know you loue me.
And soone when you are in your Clofset,
Youle question this Lady of me:
But I pray thee sweet Kate, vse me mercifully,
Because I loue thee cruelly.

That I shall dye Kate, is sure:
But for thy loue by the Lord neuer.
What wench.

A straight backe will grow crooked,
A round eye will grow hollow,
A great legge will waxe small,
A curld pate prooue bald:
But a good heart Kate is the Sun and the Moon,
And rather the Sun and, not the Moone:

And therefore Kate take me,
Take a souldier, take a souldier,
Take a king:

Therefore tell me Kate, wilt thou haue mee?

Kate. Dat is as please de king my Father.

Harry. Nay it will please him,
Nay it shall please him Kate,
And vpon that condition Kate ile kisse thee.
Ka. O mon du ie ne voudroy faire quelk chosse
Pour tous le monde,
Ce ne poynt votree fashion en fauor.

Harry. What sayes she Lady?Lady. Dat it is not de fasion in France
For de maides, befor da be married to
May foy ie oblye, what is to bassie?Har. To kisse, to kisse.
O that tis not the fashon in France
For the maids to kisse before they are married.Lady. Owee see votree grace.Har. Well, weel breake that custome:
Therefore Kate patience perforce and ycelde.
Before God Kate you haue witchcraft
In your kisses:
And may perfwade with me more
Then all the French Councell,
Your father is returned,Enter the Kings of France, and the Lords.

How now my Lords?

Fran. Brother of England,
We haue ordered the Articles,
And haue agreed to all that we in sedule had,Exe. Onely he hath not subscribed this,
Where your Maiesty demands,
That the King of France hauing any occasion
To write for matter of grant,
Shall name your Highnesse in this forme:
And with this addition in French,
Nostre tresher filz, Henry Roy d' Angleterre,
E beare de France. And thus in Latine:
Precclarissimus filius noster Henricus Rex Anglia,
Et heres Francia.Fran. Nor this haue we so nicely stood vpon,
But you faire brother may intreat the same.

Harry

The Chronicle History

Harry. Why then let this among the rest
Haue his full course : And withall,
Your daughter Katherine in marriage.

Fran. This and what else
your Maiesty shall craue :
God that disposeth all, giue you much ioy.

Har. Why then faire Katherine,
Come giue me thy hand :
Our marriage will we present solemnize,
And end our hatred by a bond of loue.
Then will I sweare to Kate, and Kate to me,
And may our vowes once made, vnbroken be.
